

FLIGHT UPDATE #3

Locals can expect to see survey flights between Lake Cullulleraine and Meridian Road, Yelta in coming days, as the Mallee Salinity Survey progresses eastward. Minor technical issues and some windy conditions (which are not ideal for collecting data) have delayed the survey slightly, leading to changes to the flight schedule. These dates have now been updated on our website. Survey flights will continue between Lake Cullulleraine and Meridian Road, Yelta until about 26 April, 2024. After that, flights to move to the Nangiloc/Colignan area (rather than immediately on to the Merbein to Red Cliffs region to avoid events scheduled in Mildura during that time). At this stage, flights over the Merbein to Red Cliffs region will take place early in May, commencing around 5 May, 2024. However, please remember these dates are indicative only as several factors can influence flight scheduling.
